Olympic officials admit that the meet is a financial failure. The stadium was less than half filled today, despite perfect weather conditions.

Halfpenny of Canada injured himself internally clearing the bar at twelve feet, five inches, and was compelled to quit. MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., July 11.—A gas explosion in the Franklin Coal Company's Panama mine imprisoned nine men today, six being killed with three rescued. One hundred men were working in the mine but only nine were in the entry when the explosion occurred. The three rescued are apparently fatally burned.

Great Britain Protests Over Panama Tolls

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Alfred Innes, charge d'affaires of the British embassy, has notified Secretary of State Knox that Great Britain will regard the proposed Panama Canal legislation exempting American ships from toll and exacting toll from other nations as a violation of the Pauncefote-Hay treaty.

Innes' letter stated that Great Britain's objections, given in detail, are en route here.

Indignant protest is not expected in the British note. Consideration of the bill in the senate will therefore not be delayed, according to Senator Brandegee, chairman of the committee in charge of the measure. Germany, France and other nations are reported in accordance with the British stand.

NAME M'FADDEN CHAIRMAN OF BOARD

Fifteen Freeholders Organized For Work at Meeting Held Last Night

ROBERTS CHOSEN AS THE SECRETARY

Committee of Three Appointed to See Where Expense Money is Coming From

The board of fifteen freeholders held its first meeting at the city hall last night and organized by electing John M'Fadden president and W. C. Roberts secretary. The meeting was for the purpose of organization, and every member was present, each one having taken the oath of office and fully qualified to proceed in the work of framing a charter to be submitted to the people of Santa Ana. It is the purpose of the freeholders to proceed as rapidly as possible but not to neglect any necessary investigation. The board has approximately 120 days in which to prepare the charter and submit it to the people.

Since the matter of funds with which to pay expenses raises a doubt, the present last night appointed a finance committee consisting of R. J. Thompson, E. B. Smith and C. F. Hill. This committee is to interview the City Attorney and City Trustees and find out what provision if any can be made for meeting the necessary expenses of carrying on the work.

It seems to be generally conceded that the board could not do its work without incurring expenses of some kind, such as typewriting and securing legal advice.

It is not thought that this committee can make its report at the next meeting of the board, which will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the city hall.

DENEEN FACES THREE SIDED RACE

Must Come Out For Roosevelt or Have Progressive Rival For Governor's Chair

LA FOLLETTE MEN AND ROOSEVELTERS TO UNITE

Nevada Will Join Progressive Convention—Other States in Line

CHICAGO, July 11.—Governor Deneen was in conference today with his lieutenants, and it was expected that before night he would announce his final decision as to his action toward the Roosevelt. This will likely be followed by the third party placing a full state and congressional ticket in the field.

Deneen apparently regards as a challenge Medill McCormick's statement made last night that he (Deneen) must either come out for Roosevelt or face a rival Republican candidate for governor.

It is believed the La Follette and Roosevelt adherents have patched up their differences, and that they will join to elect delegates to a Roosevelt convention.

NEVADA TO SEND DELEGATES TO PROGRESSIVE CONVENTION

RENO, Nev., July 11.—The Progressive party is being launched in Nevada and it is the intention to send delegates to its national convention to be held August 5. Petitions taking the delegation of principals as announced in the call are being circulated in all counties of the state. It is the intention of the organizers to ask the names of all citizens all over the state to pledge themselves to the support of Roosevelt and thus endorse the men who will be sent to the convention as the legal delegates from this state. There will be three to report from Nevada.

The petition calls on the national Progressive party to recognize as delegates and alternates to the convention the following: H. A. Collins, George Springmeyer and Sarda Summerfield, alternates, L. A. Harworth, A. R. Merritt and R. M. Price.

CORTELYOU IS UNABLE TO LOCATE CAMPAIGN RECORDS

WASHINGTON, July 11.—George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee during the 1904 presidential campaign, was unable today to tell the Senate investigating committee where it would be likely to find the detailed records of the campaign contributions. He personally declared that he knew nothing about the funds, and believed the records were destroyed. He believed the total was about $1,000,000.

Cortelyou said he had not heard of a "Harriman fund" raised by the railroad magnate to save New York to the Republicans in 1904 until after the close of the campaign. He was not aware that several big insurance companies had contributed $50,000 each until that was developed in the investigation of the insurance companies by a committee in the New York legislature.

Senator Capper asked Cortelyou if he knew of contributions by Dewey, Morgan Perkins, Archibald, William Rockefeller and other magnates. He replied: "I do not, did not that I can recall."

Causes of Aeroplane Accidents
It is very difficult to determine the cause of most aeroplane accidents, but during the investigation which followed the fatal accident to Lieutenant Sorella recently in France an important discovery is said to have been made by eye witnesses. This was that the wing of his Blériot broke downward instead of upward, indicating that there was an extreme downward pressure as he started to take flight. Experiments lately made in France are said to have confirmed this, and it is now believed to be necessary to guy the wings as substantially above as below.

SKELETONS OF MAN AND HORSE ARE FOUND IN WELL NEAR SULTANA

FRESNO, July 11.—The discovery of the skeletons of a man and a horse in a well near Sultana is believed today to account for the mysterious disappearance of William Wotton, a rancher, who vanished in 1904.

Prof. W. A. Saunders, who cashed a check alleged to have been signed by Wotton, but which was shown to have been forged, served ten years for the crime.

LORIMER IN DEFENSE OF CONTESTED SEAT

Galleries Crowded—Defense Was Largely Attacks on Accusers—Reed Roasted Hines and Browne

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The galleries were packed when Senator William Lorimer for a second time pleaded for his senatorial seat. Cool and collected he stood behind his desk which was littered with manuscript and diagrams, and launched into his defense from the fraudulent election charge against him. He traced an alleged conspiracy on the part of a certain Chicago paper in 1905 to loot the school fund. He intimated robbery by the Chicago paper's opposing him. The Senator played Victor Lawson of the Record-Herald, and alleged that Governor Deneen was concerned in a taxing scandal.

REED EXCORIATED HINES AND LEE O'NEILL BROWNE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—A bitter exhortation of Edward Hines, the alleged "senator maker," in the Lorimer case, as an "egotistical bribe monger," characterized Senator Reed's contribution in the Senate debate on Lorimer. He scored the senators for "skimming over" Hines' connection with the case. Reed followed Lee of Tennessee who attacked Lorimer, and Thornton of Louisiana, who defended the Illinois senator. Lorimer made frequent notes during the speeches.

Reed declared that Lorimer must have known that Lee O'Neill Browne, the Democratic leader in the Illinois legislature, was "engaged in very peculiar practices." He declared that "Browne was the confidential agent of Lorimer. His acts cannot be repudiated. There was a conspiracy before the act. Lorimer testified under oath that Browne managed his campaign. He contributed $10,000 to Browne's defense when the latter was threatened with punishment. He stood with the man who was an admitted bribe-giver and distributor of corruption funds."

Reed waxed sarcastic in referring to "those favoring Lorimer, who are depleting themselves as heroes and martyrs, and taking credit for great courage." He ended by saying: "I don't like home-made halos."

Lorimer said: "I will show that no vote was corruptly cast against me. The senate was humbugged by my enemies into a second investigation. Making this declaration of innocence he shouted that if the senate does not adopt the res adjudicata plea a travesty justice will be enacted. He said:

"If we had a law officer in Cook county, Illinois, who would prosecute for violation of the law, the knaves and criminals who control the Chicago newspapers would be in the penitentiary. I will prove before concluding that they should be punished."

Referring to his charges against a certain Chicago paper which he said had looted the school fund, Lorimer declared: "The net robbery by the Chicago Tribune was $70,000 annually."

Lorimer's speech was made more dramatic by thunder rolling outside of the capitol and vivid lightning that lighted the senate hall. While the storm raged, Lorimer shouted:

"The press trust has poisoned the fountain of truth, and disseminated misleading information throughout the entire country. Efforts were made not only to turn the people against me, but to ruin those senators who believe that I am entitled to my seat."

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—F. E. Wolke, a Socialist newspaper man, resumed the stand today and reiterated his yesterday's testimony, when he attempted to contradict the testimony of Bert Franklin who swore that Clarence Darrow gave him money for bribery purposes November 23. ## WILSON SEES PLENTY OF FUNDS

Says Aid of "Interested Persons or Parties" Will Not be Needed in Campaign

GETS MONEY BY EVERY MAIL VARYING IN SUMS

Bryan Pokes Fun at Watterson—Says He Awaits People's Verdict on His Action

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 11.—That plenty of cash will be available to run the Democratic campaign without accepting contributions from "interested parties or persons," was Woodrow Wilson's declaration today. He expressed pleasure at finding in his mail letters from many persons containing one dollar bills. To date, he has received $1500. The largest contribution was $500. Numerous five and one have been sent in.

BRYAN LAUGHS AT BITTER CHIDINGS OF "MARSE" WATTERSON

LINCOLN, Neb., July 11.—Under the caption "Mount Watterson in Eruption," W. J. Bryan's Commoner replied to a recent bitter editorial attack in Watterson's Louisville paper. Bryan says:

"Well, Mr. Bryan confesses he has not tried to please Mr. Watterson. That may account for any popularity that Mr. Bryan enjoys. He confesses that he had not consulted Mr. Watterson when he made his fight against Judge Parker or introduced his resolution against Messrs. Ryan, Morgan and Belmont. (Wonder if Mr. Watterson feels slighted like one financier because he was not included?). Mr. Bryan did not consult Mr. Watterson when he joined Mr. Murphy in nominating a candidate for the presidency. Mr. Bryan has pursued the course seeming the most calculated to advance the interests of the Democratic party, and through the party, the interests of the country. He has done most of his work not only without Mr. Watterson's aid, but despite his opposition. He lived to see the things he advocated become accepted as the doctrines of a great nation. He awaits without fear the verdict of the people on his work at Baltimore."

WILSON MEN COME STRONG

New Campaign Club Formed
With Membership of 65
to Start

Supporters of Woodrow Wilson for president met last night in their new quarters in the Hervey-Finley block and took steps toward the formation of a strong campaign organization. The old Wilson club, which did the work for the primary, was dissolved and a reorganization effected.

The new club started with a membership of about sixty-five. H. C. Head was chosen temporary president and B. E. Tarver temporary secretary, and a committee was appointed to go over the by-laws of the old club and make any changes which may be necessary. This committee will report at the next meeting, when a permanent organization will be effected. The matter of holding a ratification meeting was discussed, but action postponed on this until the next meeting.

It was decided to meet regularly on Tuesday evening of each week. Every member was constituted a committee of one to secure new members, and a vigorous campaign will be made. There are no fixed dues to the club, the expenses being met by voluntary contributions. All voters who favor the election of Wilson are eligible and invited to become members.

REPORTS ON APRICOT CROP

Orange Co. Output Has Been Over-Estimated in Statement in Santa Clara County

To Apricot Growers:—Alas, very important if true! A Santa Clara county farm paper, having a large circulation in that region, and happily finding its way to my desk also, has the following statement:

"The apricot crop of Orange county, which was thought to be short early in the season, will, it is now reported, be 10,000 tons in excess of last year."

The paper publishing this statement, is, I believe, entirely innocent in giving circulation to such a whopper. Nor do I think that the report was made by an Orange county man, because it is too absurd. The statement will not deceive a single packer in the state because every one of them is better informed. If it was intended to deceive anyone, it was to deceive the Santa Clara apricot grower.

And since the statement will find prompt contradiction in the paper referred to, it will not deceive the grower very long, but will stamp the originator of the story as a monumental liar. Our association makes it its business to gather reliable crop reports and to inform the growers, and likewise to nail lies like the one quoted.

Now let us see: "Ten thousand tons in excess of last year!" It does not say, tons green or dried, so for charity's sake, let us assume green tons. The record crop for the county is 15,000 dried, or 7,500 tons green. Last year's crop was 12,000 tons dried, or 6,000 tons green. From 50 to perhaps 100 tons are canned. My own estimate early in the season, as readers of the Register will recall, was fifty to seventy-five per cent of a full crop. Somewhat later I stated 700 to 1,000 tons dried, according to development of late setting of fruit. We know now that the crop will be a little lighter than that of last year, that it will reach 1,000 tons and perhaps run a little over. Other early estimates were thirty to fifty per cent of a crop. 1,050 tons would be exactly seventy per cent of 1,500 tons.

The statement in the Santa Clara county paper will no doubt be used by buyers to scare the apricot growers of that county into selling cheap, and probably was intended to accomplish that purpose. The growers selling cheap in Santa Clara county must cause the growers elsewhere to follow suit, and it would react on Orange county growers and scare them into selling at 5 or 6 cents, that is, for less than it costs to raise and dry apricots.

To meet such conditions, to warn the growers, is part of the purpose of an organization like that of the apricot growers of this county. This case again clearly illustrates the benefit the association is to the growers in general. Yet there are still some growers who only grudgingly admit the benefit they derive from the association, while at the same time they are anxious that somebody should join the association, while they are willing to have the umbrella held over them, and will do nothing to help, but are ready to see failure, where they, by coming in, could have made the association a complete success.

The price for apricots this year will be low enough. Every attempt is now being made to hammer the price down. And yet, if the apricot growers were united they could get 9 cents a pound, a price at which a big crop could be moved, and entirely fair to the consumer.

As yet there has been no evidence brought forward that the crop of the state will reach or exceed the record crop of 19,000 tons, yet the latest statement circulated is that the crop will be 26,000 tons. Some people probably have an idea that the fool grower and his crop are soon parted.

J. G. BERNEKE, M. D.
Corresponding Secretary of the Orange County Dried Fruit Association.

AMALGAMATED WELL FLOWING

Fifth Producer of That Company is Being Cleaned Out; Activity in District

Los Angeles Times: Well No. 6 of the Amalgamated Oil Company, in the Fullerton field, which for several days has been nearing the producing stage, started flowing Saturday. In the morning the well was perforated and preparations were made for pumping. Early in the afternoon the water and dirt were being drained out. This new well, which will be the fifth producer on the company's holdings in the La Habra district, gives indications of yielding fine oil.

Activity in the La Habra district is pronounced at the present time. Both the Union Oil Company and the Amalgamated are actively engaged in drilling wells, while a number of other companies are also reaching quite a depth. Wells 8 and 10 of the Amalgamated Oil Company are respectively 2780 and 2330 feet deep, while No. 12 is now ready to spud in, and work will probably be started immediately.

The Union Oil Company now has twelve strings of tools in operation in the Fullerton field, ten of which are drilling. Well No. 3 on the Graham-Loftus division in the La Habra district was cemented to shut off water at a depth of 2802 feet, and was closed down waiting for cement to set. Five other wells on the Graham-Loftus division are between 3000 and 2700 feet deep, and drilling is going ahead rapidly. The great Bastanchury well No. 3, which struck oil sand at 4480 feet, was cemented at 4450 feet to close out water. It is one of the deepest wells in the district and promises to be one of the strongest producers. The Sansinena well which was drilled to a depth of 4281 feet has been put into shape for pumping, and will be a small producer. Water was cemented off at 2420 feet in the Stearns well No. 52, and progress ceased waiting for cement to set.

On the West Coast property in the Olinia district three wells have now attained quite a depth. No. 44 is 2788 feet, No. 47 is 3030 feet, and No. 48 is 1707 feet. The yield in this district is approximately 2500 barrels a day.

The Petroleum Development Company has seven strings of tools running to the Olinia district, and the wells which are now being drilled, range in depth from 1650 to 3150, all but one being over 2400 feet deep.

The Fields, the best-known rental service man in Orange County, has severed his connections with the Ford Agency and is now driving the big Winth Six for the Harper Motor Car Company.

Summer Hand Bags

In the region of hand bags pique is made up for white summer wear. Many bags are now of crocheted, and this looks charming with a linen frock, but one can not as a rule say much, for the sack of colored crocheted, a thing that contrives to look vulgar even when it happens to be in complete harmony with the tub frock with which it is carried. Macramé is successfully worn with linen or tussore.

Bags are at the moment in a transition stage, or perhaps they have fallen into line with the fashion in regard to other accessories of wearing whatever individual whim dictates. Anyhow, some of them are enormous sacks trailing from long cords and hung with deep fringes, while others are quite neat and small, so small, indeed, that they are merely overgrown purses and can serve no vanity purposes at all.

TARVER FILES THE PETITION

About 300 Signatures Secured to Proposal to Give Home Rule in Taxation.

Yesterday afternoon Attorney B. E. Tarver filed with the county clerk an initiative petition, asking that the people of California be allowed to vote upon an amendment giving home rule in taxation. If 14,000 names are secured to the petition in the state, the matter must be submitted to a vote of the people in the November election.

The petition filed with the county clerk here contained about 300 names, of which a large majority were secured in Santa Ana. After the petition is verified by the county clerk it will be forwarded to the secretary of state.

The object of the proposed amendment is to allow each city to adopt its own method of taxation.

THE "BAD MEXICAN" IN ORANGE COUNTY

Perhaps the most serious social and economic problem, and the most difficult of solution, confronting Orange County is what may be termed The Mexican Problem. And it is especially and tragically forced upon our attention at this time by the shooting of Marshal Kellenberger of Anaheim by a drunken Mexican. Every time there is a Mexican row—which is nearly every time a lot of Mexicans get to drinking together—at least one man goes to jail and another to the hospital or the cemetery, and two or more families are thrown on the county for support. Hardly a month goes by without one or more such tragedies in this county. Without digging up statistics it is safe to say that three-fourths of the criminal and indigent costs of the county—indeed, we believe nine-tenths would be nearer correct—are chargeable to the ignorant and vicious class of our Mexican population.

That statement, however, ought to be qualified by saying that back of and beneath the bad Mexican—literally inside of him and in a sense the evil spirit within him—is bad liquor, in most cases sold to him in violation of law. In this respect the community is in a measure participes criminis. Where the liquor traffic is licensed that part of the community (speaking of the county as a whole) sanctioning such licensing cannot escape serious responsibility; and we are all responsible, theoretically, for failure to enforce the laws prohibiting the liquor traffic; indeed, we are all practically and actually responsible just in such measure as we fail to enforce the law to the fullest possible extent.

Another accessory before the fact is the lack of law controlling the sale of deadly weapons. If it would not be unconstitutional the county—yes, the state ought to pass a law making it impossible for anybody to purchase or have or keep or own a revolver or other deadly weapon, that can be carried concealed, without a permit from some legally constituted authority. This might seem severely restrictive upon intelligent, self-restrained, law-abiding citizens; but we believe all such citizens would gladly submit to such restrictions in order that they might be imposed upon those who need them for their own and the community's protection. If such a law could be enacted, without conflict with constitutional rights—and we believe it could—then here again the community is responsible, in that it has failed to enact and enforce such a law.

There is a law against carrying concealed weapons, but in the very nature of the case it cannot be very efficiently enforced. Nobody who is likely to be a friend and supporter of the law—much less the officers charged with its enforcement—has any knowledge of the carrying of a concealed weapon until the weapon is used with deadly effect. Sheriff Rudcock has instructed all his deputies to make it a point to search drinking and quarrelsome Mexicans, and no doubt constables and marshals will do likewise. This will help some. But it will not reach the root of the evil like making it very difficult, if not impossible, for the bad man or drinking man, Mexican or American, to get or keep a gun or dirk that can be concealed on his person.

A pathetic and difficult phase of this question is the lack of moral sensibility on the part of the ignorant and vicious Mexican. On the one hand it lessens his degree of guilt when he commits a crime, and on the other it renders him less amenable to the restraining influence of the conviction and punishment of others of his kind. Thus our sympathy is aroused, and at the same time we are rendered almost hopeless by the futility, as a remedial measure, of imprisoning and hanging the poor devils. We do not send criminals to prison or hang them in order to punish them, nor mainly to remove them from opportunity for further crime, but for the wholesome and restraining influence it will have, or ought to have, on others who are criminally inclined. If little or no such influence is exerted, as in the case of ignorant Mexicans, the penal game seems hardly worth the candle.

A wider and deeper phase of this question has to do with the labor problem in agricultural communities, which is oftentimes serious and compelling; and in a fundamental way with the racial greed for gain, which sometimes leads and sometimes forces men to employ laborers in large numbers who are not and can never become desirable citizens. But it is needless to go into this phase at this time.

We are confronted by a condition. The county is infested by large and increasing numbers of ignorant and, when drinking, vicious Mexicans. They are becoming a terrible burden upon the taxpayers of the county and constitute a menace to the safety of life and property. What are we going to do about it?

And finally, we realize that we have among us many Mexicans who are good men and women and good citizens—thrifty, honest, peaceful and law-abiding. We respect and esteem them. Nothing that is here written is intended to reflect upon them in any way. We believe they will be as ready to co-operate in any remedial measures that may be undertaken as the best American citizens in the county.

PRAISE FOR JOHNSON

If one were to accept the reports in the Los Angeles Times, Oakland Tribune, San Francisco Call, and San Diego Union, he would infer that Governor Johnson and Francis J. Heney made blooming spectacles of themselves at Chicago. The impression has been given out in special telegraphic dispatches and in editorial comments in those papers and others of the reactionary type that all Johnson and Heney did at Chicago was to rant and roar and that nobody paid any attention to them.

In view of the studied misrepresentation of the facts, it is interesting to have the views of an entirely disinterested witness. A reader of the Riverside Press in Minneapolis sent that paper a clipping from the Minneapolis Journal which presents an interesting view of the impression made on the convention by these two Californians. The Journal is an independent paper, but it has leaned to Taft rather than to Roosevelt; its utterances therefore were not likely to be inspired by any prejudice in favor of the Roosevelt cause. The managing editor, James A. Gray, attended the convention himself and this is what he sent his paper regarding the contest over the California delegates:

"It is difficult to see where the two Taft delegates from California had a color of title. The California legislature passed a primary law last December which Governor Johnson, in his speech, claims was accepted by all factions of Republicanism. It was voted on after the national committee issued its call, but was formulated and debated all over California before this. 'The law provided for the election of delegates in groups. It was not framed for Roosevelt, for he was not then a candidate. It was meant to give the people a chance to vote. Governor Johnson declared that the element of the party to which he belonged having succeeded to the control of the old machinery might have appointed all the 26 delegates in the old way. However, it substituted this primary in a spirit of fairness to the public.

"The law also provided that a candidate must pledge himself to the law before he could get his name on the ticket. It also provided, as there was a preferential feature in the law, that a candidate for president must accept the law and indorse the delegates who stood in their name. Roosevelt, Taft and La Follette did this. The president's affidavit is on file.

"Now, after the election, Roosevelt having carried the whole state by 70,000 majority, claimed the whole delegation, but it happened that in San Francisco two Taft delegates received more votes than two Roosevelt candidates. The national committee first and now the credentials committee accepted these men, put them on the roll and the convention voted to receive them as permanent delegates.

"Powerful speeches were made against this course by Francis J. Heney who, whatever his breaks in the convention hitherto, proved that he had a splendid legal mind in his brief discussion of this question.

"Governor Johnson followed him in the most powerful argument I have ever heard. He is a handsome, vigorous, graceful man who resembles President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, in the velocity and lucidity of his speech. He overran his time, but the convention was in a charmed state and a murmur of disappointment went all over the hall when the gavel fell.

"Senator Root was evidently of the mind of the convention, for he came forward and did a thing seldom done by a convention chairman. He asked unanimous consent that Governor Johnson might finish his argument. The Taft men were scared and would have been glad to shut off the California whirlwind, but they feared to dispute the evident desire of their own chairman. So Governor Johnson got into action again. He concluded his remarks with a tribute to what Theodore Roosevelt has done for popular government in California that ought to be a solace to him even in the hour of defeat.

"Serenio E. Payne and J. E. Watson tried to answer Johnson, but they were as ineffective as an ice wagon in a race with an automobile."

After reading that the Press said it felt mighty proud of Governor Johnson, and so does the Register, and it feels sure its readers generally will share that feeling of pride in the capable and aggressive governor of California.

THE SALVATION ARMY SUCCEEDING IN ITS PRISON WORK

Without a single break, since it began the prison work here, the Salvation Army has held its services regularly every week. A good deal of time has been given by the Captain to individual cases as they have come up for trial. The results have been very gratifying. One instance in particular is worthy of mention.

A prisoner who was converted at a meeting in the jail shortly afterward had his trial, was found guilty and was sent to San Quentin. Almost directly after his arrival there, a letter was received here from the Chaplain of the prison, telling of the stand the man was taking and his desire to join the corps which the Army has in the prison. The corps is composed of converted prisoners. These men hold their meetings in the usual way, including the open air meetings, which are held in the quadrangle, with the intention to win over their fellow-prisoners.

Brigadier Wood, the Provincial Secretary, regularly visits the prisoners, and all the Army principles are carried out in connection with this unique corps, each soldier being sworn in under the Army colors, as required with every one else. It is needless to say that this man will receive every encouragement and help during his incarceration, and upon his release the Army, with its many agencies, will prove useful to him.

CLASS PARTY

Three Girls of Sunday School Class Have Birthdays Honored in Delightful Manner

The Sunday school class of fifteen girls of the United Presbyterian church of which Mrs. Lee Warren is the teacher, held a very enjoyable class-party yesterday afternoon in the church. July is the natal month of three of the girls and yesterday was the birthday of Ruth Smith, one of the three.

Games were played and a general good time was had, and at 5 o'clock the committee on refreshments, Flora McFadden and Carolyn Finley, announced that a spread was ready in the dining room. The guests were seated around the table where the joyful time of the afternoon was spent. The menu included fruit, sandwiches, ice cream and cakes. The principal decoration on the table was the birthday cake with eleven lighted candles on in honor of the birthdays.

The members of the class are Lois and Ruth Smith, Goldie Robertson, Flora McFadden, Carolyn Finley, Elizabeth Lyon, Meta Deitrich, Pearl Duncan, Helen Kellogg, Verda Blackmore, Vivian Cox, Ruby Wagner, Sylvia and Gladys Shield, Edna Copeland. Besides these, there were present Mrs. Lee Warren, the class teacher; Mrs. Will Smith, Mrs. Lyon and Miss Emma White.

Daughters of Veterans

The Daughters of Veterans will meet tomorrow night, Friday, at G. A. R. Hall at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

Seeling Santa Ana

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gillett of Vincennes, Ind., are spending their honeymoon with relatives in Southern California. They are now with their aunt, Mrs. J. F. Britton, 607 East Sixth street. It goes without saying that they are very much pleased with the coast country to the fullest extent, but will probably leave for their Indiana home about the first of August.

This is the second matrimonial venture for each, and Mr. and Mrs. Gillett are accompanied by their three children, Helen, Thelma and Robert. Mrs. Gillett was originally Miss Ethel Buck of Vincennes.

Another Methodist Picnic

That the Methodists of Santa Ana have a decided leaning toward the water is evidenced by the fact that within this week two Methodist picnics have been held on the Newport sand strip. The first of these was the one held by the ladies of the M. E. Church South, on Tuesday last at East Newport. The second was held yesterday at Newport Beach, the picnic being the Ladies' Aid Society and Missionary Society of the First Methodist church. The event of yesterday was the annual picnic of the ladies belonging to those societies, and headquarters were established at the C. W. Burns cottage, with Mrs. Burns as the hospitable hostess. A number of the men of the church availed themselves of the opportunity to have a day at the seaside and accompanied the ladies who made the trip to the beach by automobile and trolley car.

Yesterday was the regular meeting day for the societies, as well as an outing, brief business sessions were held. One of the matters decided on by the Ladies' Aid Society was that the ladies would assume the responsibility of furnishing a paragon for the new pastor of the Spanish Mission conducted in Santa Ana by the Methodists. It was also decided to send Miss Collins to the International Mission summer school in the First Methodist church, Los Angeles, next Sunday and lasting for a week. This school is conducted for the purpose of instructing workers in the mission text books used by the missionary societies each year.

A bountiful noon dinner was served, about forty sitting down to the picnic feast for which Mrs. Burns furnished delicious hot coffee. Most of the afternoon was spent on the beach, everyone wishing to enjoy the lovely air and watch the play of the foaming breakers.

In New Home

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Trescott last night entertained with a balcony dinner party, only a small number being present. The Trescotts have recently completed a handsome Swiss chalet on Newport road, just off from East Seventeenth street. The event of last evening was particularly enjoyable from the lovely setting in which it took place.

From the house balcony, the guests looked on a splendid grove of richly growing orange trees whose glossy leaves reflected the tints of the evening glow, while in the distance were outlined rugged mountains, massed along the faint sky-line.

The chalet, set in a luxuriant orange grove, is spacious and handsome and the interior is thoroughly modern and beautiful.

Best Time of Their Lives

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. McElree and son, Everett, returned yesterday afternoon after several weeks' tour in the north, having visited friends in Fresno, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and North Yakima, Wash. They made the return trip from Seattle to San Francisco by boat, the steamship Governor.

The McElrees report the very best time of their lives, having enjoyed one continuous round of pleasure and sight-seeing.

Band Concert Pleased

The Santa Ana public last night placed its seal of approval on the band concert movement, by assembling at Birch Park to the number of nearly 4000. This leads by several hundred the largest crowd that has hitherto, in any season, turned out to hear these concerts. This very large attendance is significant. It says emphatically that the band concerts are wanted.

And why should they not be wanted, if last night's performance is a forerunner of what the band is to give throughout the season? The program was excellent, and was excellently given. With W. Frank Harris directing most efficiently and with every member of the organization apparently right up to enthusiastic "concert pitch," the music was rendered with a "zip and zing" that was really stirring.

Three especially popular numbers were "Little Miss Fix It" (Reeves), the Fantasia by Tobiast, "Gems of Stephen Foster," and the splendid descriptive overture "Fall of Jericho" (Mallochland). "La Zarra," Blank's concert waltz, was also a favorite. The ensemble work of the band was noticeably good, and the big audience, remarkable for its perfect order and close attention, was extremely appreciative of this and other commendable points.

The admirable order maintained last evening was praiseworthy and if maintained, as it will be, will lend much to the popularity of the concert season.

Day Nursery Birthday

Today a birthday was celebrated at the Day Nursery. It was the birthday of little Ruth Absher, who is now 7 years old. There were thirteen present at the birthday table, in the center of which was a cake decorated with seven candles.

A COLONIAL PARTY

Ladies of First Baptist Church Recalled Times Long Gone in All-Day Affair

Flags waving in the air, stately ladies in caps and fichus and aprons of spotless white, bouquets of sweet old-fashioned flowers, readings and songs suggestive of pre-revolutionary days, were features of a happy event enjoyed yesterday on the spacious and inviting lawn of the H. G. Hull home. It was one of the three picnics or out-of-door meetings that the ladies of the Helping Hand of the First Baptist church have planned for the summer months.

It was a real Colonial party, and the forenoon was spent in chat and needlework under the glorious pepper trees on the back lawn where the gracious sunshine and cooling shadows joined in fairy dances over the velvet sward. There were more than sixty ladies who enjoyed the pleasures of the day. Conspicuous among these were the hostesses for the day headed by Mrs. E. J. Foster, the chairman of the entertaining committee. All of these ladies, whose big white aprons, dainty caps and fichus gave them a truly "old-timely" air, were busy through the forenoon preparing the wonderful dinner to which the ladies sat down at high noon.

Of good things to eat there was no end. All the picnicers had contributed something of their best, and the result was practically a banquet that not even the famous housewives of the olden days could not have surpassed. Old-fashioned red table cloths covered the long table lending a cheerful and "homey" air to the generously loaded board. Bouquets of old-fashioned flowers, assembled in an old-fashioned way, adorned the table. And there floated over all the atmosphere of good old-fashioned cordiality and friendliness which is not out of fashion even in the present day but which is more often than not hidden under the veil of conventionalities.

After the dinner, that "countinous, delicious dinner, was ended, and the dishes "cleared away," there were readings by Mesdames Hill, Hickox, Foster and Harris, and vocal duets by Mrs. Harris and Miss Mame Havens. The readings were stories of Revolutionary days and the songs were plucked from the sheaf of old songs that are so dear to all hearts.

The program was followed by a very modern, up-to-date business meeting, the principal theme of which was how to raise money for that new church the Baptist ladies are ardently working for. The ladies pledged $1000 to the building fund yesterday, and $100 was almost immediately turned in. The century sum was the yield of an "experience meeting," and each of twenty ladies told how she had earned $5 for the fund. Most of the experiences were told in merry rhymes, some of which were most clever. The sum received was the first earnest of these experience meetings, which are in charge of Mrs. C. E. French. So the charge of Mrs. French. In the meantime all will remember with real pleasure the Colonial party of yesterday.

Off for the Summer

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McNaught and family left this morning for their summer outing in British Columbia, where they will visit relatives during the next two months. They went from here to San Pedro, where they took a boat for Los Angeles. Their friends unite in most hearty wishes for a glorious summer, and will be glad to welcome them when they return to Santa Ana.

Birthday Party

Master Neal Raney was the proud and happy host yesterday afternoon to twenty-five of his boy and girl friends who gathered at the Raney home on North Main street, in response to invitations from Neal to assist in celebrating his twelfth birthday anniversary.

The pretty new home of the Raney, recently remodeled, presented an attractive scene as the youthful guests assembled. Suggestive of the Fourth of July season, recently past, the decorations were in patriotic colors, with tiny American flags used effectively in the scheme.

Games of various kinds amused the young people during the afternoon, and Mrs. Raney, who assisted her son in entertaining his guests, served delicious refreshments of punch, ice cream and cake.

Altogether it was a happy affair, and at 5 o'clock the guests departed, leaving their hosts with many expressions of delight in the pleasant afternoon and wishing their host many returns of the occasion.

W. R. C. Tea Tomorrow

The W. R. C. will give its regular monthly tea tomorrow afternoon, and by way of a summer innovation, will hold the event in pretty Birch Park. As the Relief Corps ladies always make their social events of much interest, it is quite sure every one attending this out-of-door tea will pass a pleasant hour or two. Ice cream and cake will be served for a small sum, and the public generally is invited.

A Surprise Dinner

Without remembering that yesterday was the birthday of a friend, a surprise dinner was given to her at the home of her hostess.

CHAPMAN TELLS OF POOR ORANGES IN EASTERN MARKETS

Fullerton Tribune: While in the East C. C. Chapman looked into the orange situation. In a statement to the Tribune he reports that he found many oranges, injured by the cold weather, were being dumped into the eastern markets at the present time, this fruit being from Riverside and San Bernardino counties and none from Orange County. He declares it injures the sale of all fruit shipped from California and he is right. He also found that some of this decaying fruit was absolutely worthless and was not selling for enough to pay the freight East. There should be a law against shipping this rotten fruit from California.

CARRYING GUN SPELLS JAIL

Justice Cox Announces That Concealed Weapon Will Not Mean Fine

Ruperto Saragosa Sent Across
For Ninety Days—Caught in Tuesday's Hunt

"There will be no more fines in this court in cases of carrying concealed weapons," said Justice Cox this morning. "Any man brought in here and convicted of carrying a gun will have to go to jail, and I don't care whether he be white or black." This drastic stand on the part of Justice Cox is one of the outcomes of the shooting of City Marshal Kallenberger at Anaheim. The justice has always handled gun-packers without gloves, and the penalties handed out by him on the score of carrying concealed weapons have been along the line that has now become a decided policy among the officers of this county.

The man before Cox this morning was Ruperto Saragosa, who is no stranger to the county jail. He was held for several months for shooting his brother-in-law, Pedro Salcido, but the case was dismissed because Salcido left the county. But two or three weeks ago he finished a term for disturbing the peace at Anaheim, City Marshal Kallenberger and Deputy German being responsible for his arrest.

Tuesday morning when word was received here of the shooting of Anaheim's city marshal, an automobile containing Constable Heard and Deputy Sheriff's Law and Glessner started for Anaheim. On the way they met Saragosa and took him in on suspicion. He had a revolver in his coat pocket.

This morning Saragosa pleaded guilty, and took his sentence, ninety days in the county jail.

SHOWS A MAP TRAGEDY ROAD

Surveyor Steward First Witness in Trial of George
Biggs For Murder

Relatives of Murdered Man and Woman Are Spectators;
Boy Chief Witness

This morning District Attorney West stood before the twelve men who are trying George Biggs on a charge of murdering Francis A. Montee on April 12, and outlined the story of the awful tragedy that resulted in the death of Montee and his wife.

West said that he would prove that Montee was shot through the heart by Biggs, that he fell or jumped from the wagon and grappled, that he weakened and his head was driven into the dirt by blows from a shovel in Biggs' hands, that as Mrs. Montee rushed to the place she, too, was struck down.

Biggs had no whiskers on the day he was taken into custody by City Marshal Kallenberger and Deputy German of Anaheim. Today he has a bushy beard, and presents an appearance more uncouth than on the day of the killing. He takes a close interest in the proceedings, and converses frequently with his attorneys, Bishop and Harding. From the first Biggs in his own mind has justified his actions in killing the man and woman. It seems to be expected that the defense will be double-barrelled self-defense in that he feared Montee and insanity in that he brooded over imaginary wrongs and was not of normal mind. The attorneys for Biggs, however, have not announced their defense.

The first witness called this morning by the district attorney and Deputy Koepel was O. E. Steward, city engineer of Anaheim. Steward presented a map showing the farms occupied by Montee and Biggs in April last, and showing the roads, Santa Ana and Red Gum streets in the Golden State tract, near the corner of which the tragedy occurred. Attorney Bishop made minute inquiry into the measurements and locations. The prosecution declares that the murders occurred on a public highway, admitting, however, that Montee and Biggs had had a quarrel over the use, each by the other of a part of the highway.

Robert Lehmann, a boy 12 years old, is the prosecution's chief witness. He was on the wagon with Montee when Biggs shot.

The jury was completed yesterday with the selection of Walter Wray and N. H. McCulliston as the eleventh and twelfth jurors.

JOY IN STRAWBERRY TIME
There are lots of good things to eat in strawberry time and you will benefit in dollars and cents if you encourage the good wife by a little open appreciation. The enjoyment of hearty meals goes with good health and the power of accomplishment. Ask her to try some of these:

Strawberry Cream Cakes
Place ½ cup butter and 1 cup boiling water in a saucepan over the fire, and as soon as boiling point is reached add one cup flour and stir vigorously. As soon as well mixed remove from fire and add, one at a time, 4 unbeaten eggs. Beat each one in thoroughly, until well mixed, before adding the next egg. Now drop this batter by tablespoonfuls on buttered tins about 1½ inches apart, shaping as nearly circular as possible, and bake about 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Then, with a sharp knife, make a cut in each puff, large enough to admit the following filling:

Beat 1 cup thick cream until stiff, add liberal ¼ cup sugar, the stiffly beaten white of 1 egg, ½ cup of mashed strawberries, and ¼ teaspoon vanilla flavoring.

Strawberry Shortcake
Sift together 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons sugar, then add ¾ cup milk. Toss on to a floured board, divide in two parts, pat, roll out, and bake about 12 minutes in a hot oven on layer cake tins. When done split and spread with butter. Crush strawberries slightly, sweeten to taste, and put between and on top of shortcakes. Cover top with sweetened whipped cream.

Berry Ices
To 1½ cups sugar add 4 cups water and boil 20 minutes or until it is very thick.

KALLENBERGER IS IMPROVING

Turn For Better Came at Midnight—Witness Ortiz is Taken to Jail

Deputy City Marshal German of Anaheim, who is a witness in the George Biggs trial, brought word this morning from Anaheim to the effect that City Marshal Kallenberger, who was shot twice through the right lung on Tuesday, is improving.

"I stopped at the hospital this morning," said German. "While they would not let me see Kallenberger, I saw his wife. She said that up to midnight he sank rapidly, but that at midnight he took a turn for the better and had been improving ever since."

Valuable Testimony
Carlos Ortiz was arrested yesterday by Deputy Marshal German of Anaheim, and is now in the county jail held as a witness.

Ortiz is about 55 years old, and has been employed on Pete Nicolas' ranch. He says that he took a drink of brandy from a bottle offered by Almendares, who shot Kallenberger. He saw Almendares jerk a watch from Jacobs' pocket. Jacobs was with Ortiz and Almendares. In this, Ortiz agrees with Jacobs, who states that Almendares was trying to rob him of the watch when the officer appeared.

Ortiz heard someone say: "Here comes the marshal." This statement on the part of Ortiz is important testimony as it proves that Almendares knew who he was shooting. Almendares having denied that he knew that Kallenberger was an officer. Ortiz heard the shots fired, but did not see the actual shooting.

COMMISSION IS SUCCESS IN DES MOINES

Long Beach Physician in Reply to Request Gets Interesting
Letter From Friend

That commission government as exemplified by the Des Moines plan has been a success and not a failure, various reports to the contrary, notwithstanding, is the substance of a letter which has just been received by Dr. Robert Sweet of Long Beach, from Harvey H. Stipp, an attorney of the Iowa city and long time friend of the Long Beach physician, in reply to a letter written recently.

According to Attorney Stipp, who is a thoroughgoing student of constitutional law and civil government, and has been a close observer of the commission plan both in Des Moines and elsewhere, the plan has worked better there than its advocates dared to expect. He says there is no truth in the report that it has been a failure, the only ones against it are those who enjoyed privileges under the old form of government which they are unable to secure under the commission plan.

This "bugaboo" respecting the alleged failure of commission government in Des Moines, has been hurled at the Commission Government Club of Long Beach more than once since it commenced its efforts in the direction of charter reform, and the timely letter from Des Moines will be read therefore with interest by all who have been looking into the question.

Attorney Stipp's letter to Dr. Sweet is as follows:

July 2nd, 1912.
Dr. Robert B. Sweet, Long Beach Bank Building, Long Beach, Cal.
My Dear Sweet: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of June 22nd regarding the workings of the Des Moines Plan of city government. In many places where the adoption of the Des Moines plan has been considered reports have been started that the plan has not worked well at home. That seems to be a favorite dodge of the opponents of the plan in any locality which considers adopting it. There is no truth in that report.

The Des Moines plan has worked better there than its advocates dared to expect. Everyone here now strongly favors the plan except a few who held office under the old plan and opposed the adoption of the new one. Some of them do not admit having changed their opinion of it but they keep very quiet. Ninety-nine per cent of the people who were opposed to adopting the plan are now favorable to it.

Our tax rate has been reduced and the money raised has been so much more efficiently managed that we are now able to do many things, which under the old plan we could not do for lack of funds. We used to be a very badly governed city, but now our city business is handled in a clean, straight-forward and business-like manner.

I note that the old objection is being urged, that legislative and executive functions in government should not be united in the same body. The originator of that data was Montesquieu, the French political philosopher. He gave no reason why his statement was true, and of the many successfully administered governments in the world, the American is the only government in which the principle is professed to have been adopted. As a matter of fact our courts have never been able to distinguish clearly executive from legislative functions and we have never been able to keep them separate in our national and state governments, although many people think we do. In business, in which we have been even more successful in this country than in government, that distinction has never been observed and the administration of cities is about nine-tenths business and one-tenth government.

Enclosed I hand you a copy of a letter on the plan which I wrote to a gentleman in Memphis when our plan was in operation little less than a year. It contains some thoughts regarding it, and up to date I have had no reason to change anything therein in expression.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I am
Most truly yours,
HARLEY M. STIPP.

In addition to the miniature railroad, engines and cars, a regular system of manual block signals, with crossovers and sidings, has been installed. ## YOU MUST REGISTER OR LOSE YOUR VOTE

County Clerk Williams Urges
All Voters to Register Before August 3

Registrations Made Prior to
This Year Are Now
Worthless

County Clerk Williams estimates that there are still 4000 to 5000 voters who will not be eligible to vote at the September primaries unless they register before August 3, less than a month hence. It should be clearly understood that all registrations made before January of the present year are now cancelled and of no value.

This was not the case in the May primaries. At that time registration of the previous year still held good. This is no longer the case.

All Must Register Anew
To qualify for the September primaries all must register before August 3, or thirty days before the election. No person who has not registered since January 1, 1912, will be permitted to cast a ballot. In the May primary this year the 1911 registration held good, but not at the recent freeholders' election in Santa Ana, at which many lost their votes, nor in any subsequent elections to be or that may be held.

Party Must Be Stated
In all primary elections it will be necessary to give party affiliations. Any one who wishes to vote for Republican candidates for any of the offices to be filled must register as Republican, and the same is true of Democrats or Socialists. Republicans who register as such will in no way disqualify themselves or impair their power and efficiency to support the Roosevelt or Wilson presidential candidates, but unless they do register as Republicans they cannot participate in the nomination of Republican candidates at the primary of Sept. 3.

No provision is made for "Progressives" or "Independents" in the primary law, and people who identify themselves in this way will not be permitted to vote at the primary at all.

Mr. Williams urges all who are in any doubt about the matter to call and ascertain their status for themselves.

Who Will Be Nominated
The officers to be nominated on September 3 include one assemblyman from this county, a state senator from the joint districts of Riverside, Imperial and Orange counties, and supervisors in the first and third districts.

The points to be borne in mind are that the registration for the September nominating primaries close August 3; that about 5000 voters have not yet qualified themselves to vote, and that each voter must state his or her party affiliation, or the right to cast a ballot on September 3 will be denied.

INVESTIGATION BEFORE REPLY

Members of the Board of Freeholders Expect to go Into Study of Charters

Suggestion Made That Scribes
Among the People Answer
the Questions

The members of the board of fifteen freeholders seem disposed to make a thorough investigation of the various forms of charters before committing themselves. At least, that is the attitude of mind discovered in interviews had by the Register with a number of them. Some of them have not as yet given the matter of the contents of a charter any special thought, though they expect to put plenty of thought into the matter in the next 120 days or so. Others have some views, but hesitate about expressing them until they have heard arguments on all sides.

The Register presented the following questions to several of the members of the board:

1. Have you any decided opinion as to the value and availability for Santa Ana of the commission form of city government?

2. Do you think it advisable or necessary to incorporate in the charter a provision prohibiting the liquor traffic; and if you do, would you render it possible, or make it impossible except by amendment of the charter, to grant carefully guarded table permit to a bona fide hotel?

3. What, in your opinion, is the greatest need or advantage to be gained, in the way of endorsement or increased flexibility of the powers of municipal government by means of a special charter?

4. What, in your opinion, is the greatest need—if there be any—in the way of safeguarding the rights of the people against encroachment by municipal government, that may be secured by special charter?

5. What idea of thought or suggestion have you to present, with regard to a special charter for Santa Ana, that is not embodied in your answers to the foregoing questions?

"My attitude is too well known on the liquor question for any comment by me to be necessary," said Colonel S. H. Pinley. "I have not given any of the other matters much thought as yet. I have not had time to look through the charters of any of the cities that have them, and I am not prepared now to go into the merits of any of the phases that may come before the board for decision."

W. B. Tedford said that everybody knows how he stands on the liquor question. As to the other questions he said that it was entirely too early to give an answer.

E. B. Smith said that he had ideas in regard to several of the questions, but that he preferred to wait until he has investigated thoroughly before making any statements.

One of the members stated that it would be an excellent plan to submit the questions to the people of the city and ask as many as cared to write answers to them for publication, and in that way get the people interested in the subjects and at the same time furnish ideas that may prove of value in the work of the board of freeholders.

Does Not Lessen the Need For New Party

(Chester Rowell in Fresno Republican.)
The nomination of Woodrow Wilson is almost the first break in the long line of Democratic blunders. And even this exceptional manifestation of good sense was not achieved by the Democrats in convention assembled. It was literally forced on them, by the big stick of William J. Bryan. For months every intelligent observer of public affairs has seen that the only sensible thing for the Democrats to do was to nominate Wilson. But, somehow, the Democratic party could not see it. Its voters beat him at the primaries and its leaders undertook to shelve him at the convention. For more than forty ballots the Democratic convention rejected the inevitable. It was for anybody rather than Wilson, and only accepted him as a last resort.

Against his will, by literal threats and almost by violence, Bryan compelled the Democratic convention to follow a judgment it did not possess. It is the most remarkable personal victory this generation has seen in American politics. The triumph is Bryan's absolutely, and the credit is his—not the Democratic party's. Woodrow Wilson was nominated by William J. Bryan just as William H. Taft was nominated by Elihu Root. Neither in sense nor in spirit represents his party. But the

ANAHEIM WATER COMPANY MEETING

Stockholders Will be Prosecuted
if Caught Interfering
With Company Gates

ANAHEIM, July 11.—A regular meeting of the board of directors of the Anaheim Union Water Co. was held on July 9.

Director Beasley reported that Wm. Geerdes wanted a gate put in the ditch on his ranch. Request granted provided Mr. Geerdes pay the cost.

Director Sherwood reported the ditch on Orangeflower avenue, near the Smith place, needed raising and repairing. The superintendent was instructed to raise the ditch and fill in back of it wherever necessary.

Mr. Sherwood reported that the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company wanted to put in a permanent division gate and would like the co-operation of the Anaheim Union Water Company.

Mr. McFadden reported that a number of stockholders are in the habit of changing the gates and taking more water than they are entitled to. This was referred to the measuring committee with instructions to prosecute any person caught interfering with the system in any way.

M. Vernon appeared in the interests of Mrs. M. L. Chawning and requested that the open ditch through her property be piped. This was referred to the ditch committee to investigate.

Mr. Bradford reported the S. A. V. I. Co. has spent $50.00 installing a telephone for fire protection up the mountains and wanted the A. U. W. Co. to pay $25.00. The president and secretary were authorized to sign a warrant in favor of the S. A. V. I. Co. for $25.00 to help pay for the telephone.

Mr. Bradford reported that the Petroleum Co. had put on a meter and that contracts had been prepared by the attorney, with persons using the A. U. W. Co. water for oil development purposes.

Joe Wagner asked permission to connect the lower end of his pipe line with the main ditch of the company. His request was referred to the ditch committee.

Director Hale asked for and was granted a leave of absence of two months.

Gus Stern presented a contract and certificate of title for 7.15 acres of land purchased by the A. U. W. Co. from the Sterns Realty Co. for a right of way. On motion of Hale, seconded by Sherwood, the president and secretary were authorized to sign the contract, also a warrant in favor of Sterns Realty Co. for the first payment on the land.

Superintendent reported too much gravel being taken from the Gomer tract without permission. The superintendent was instructed to fence the Gomer tract and in future charge 25 cents per load for each load of gravel taken from the tract.

its members—those of the partisan sort who made up the primary—and by the obstinacy of its representatives at Baltimore, the California Democratic party set itself against the only possible progressive move. And nationally, the party that depends for its only prospect of success on the dead weight of the conservative south and the reactionary forces of New York city can never become truly progressive. It has merely accepted the forced nomination of a progressive, and is trusting to hope and hunger to hold its forces together for him.

The nomination of Wilson by the Democrats in no wise lessens the need of the new party of which Theodore Roosevelt is to be the first candidate. It merely complicates the practical problem. The ideal situation would be for the Democratic party to be split in two as the Republican party is. Then there would be, as a starter, four political parties, which would straightaway coalesce into two, but on modern instead of ancient lines. The same process will go on anyway, by the natural scattering of the rank and file, but it would be more direct and simple if the division were organized on both sides, instead of being organized on one and confused on the other. But the need of the new party is seen in the hopeless mist of both the historic parties, in their efforts to adapt themselves to modern alignments. The Republican party, by reason of its trained efficiency, might have been a useful instrument of the progressive movement nationally, as it is already in California. But on a square test of strength, between the Republican voters and the Republican bosses, it was proved that the bosses can, if they are willing to take the consequences, prevent all party reform. The effort proved hopeless, under the present central organization of these indications of the improbability of party, though the majority of the party demonstrably favored it. On the other hand, it would be an unspeakable calamity to saddle the progressive movement permanently with all the incorrigible inaptitudes and historic heresies of the Democratic party. If there were no new party this time, that is just what would happen. The Republican party would become irrevocably the conservative party, and the progressive movement would be entangled permanently in Democratic helplessness. It must not be. There must be a Progressive party in this country, free from this historic handicap of the Republican organization. The only question unsettled is whether this is to be 1856 or 1860 in the history of the new organization. Either way, it is worth while.

For the moment, by common consent, the position of Wilson is very strong, but we suspect it is now at its maximum. Wilson has behind him a party merely disorganized; Roosevelt has before him a party yet to organize. Wilson is a brilliant, keen minded man, who has the respect of the nation. But he lacks magnetism and power with the people. He showed small vote-getting power in the primary, considering the strength of his strategic position. His popular strength will naturally wane with the campaign. Roosevelt, on the contrary, is the greatest popular campaigner alive. He is far nearer victory at the election now than he was to victory at the convention when he started his campaign. His winning of that convention (and of the honest votes he did win it) was little short of a miracle. Half that miracle would elect him now.

that miracle happening. It merely means that it has not yet had the chance to happen. When the campaign opens again, the same stampede to Roosevelt which occurred in the primaries is almost certain to be repeated. That will elect him. It will carry California for him almost unanimously. And the first long step in the political life of the future will have been taken.

Meantime let us congratulate William J. Bryan on being bigger than his party; Woodrow Wilson on being better than his party; and Theodore Roosevelt on being outside his party—with the majority of its members to follow him.

POST OFFICE MAKES A GAIN

Fullerton's Postal Receipts Indicate Prosperous Condition of the Community

Fullerton Tribune: "Yes, the Fullerton office receipts are steadily increasing from month to month and the figures for the year ending July 1 show that the city remains in the free delivery class by a big margin." This was the statement of Postmaster Edwards yesterday to the Tribune.

The receipts for the year ending July 1, 1912, were $11,393.05. One year ago the total for the year ending July, 1910, was $10,070.04. This year's business is an increase of $1,323.11, or over 13 per cent over last year.

Many cities in the state have boasted of a 7 per cent increase, but Fullerton has gone ahead at better than double that of several leading towns.

Asked concerning free delivery service, Mr. Edwards said: "I have made no application. I can make no application until the houses are all numbered. It will take almost a year after the application is made before the delivery will be established."

"Unless the citizens display interest and place numbers on their residences the free delivery service will be delayed indefinitely. It would materially improve the service, but many show an apathy in the matter."

"Showing the influence of the Tribune, after the last urgent call by your paper fully fifty more houses were numbered. But there still remains at least two-thirds of the houses which are not numbered."

"As I stated, no application can be made by this office until the requirements of the department are complied with by the city and the people. It would be useless for me to make such application until this is done. That is all there is to it."

IRON IN SOIL AT OROSI GIVES ORANGES THAT RICH RED COLOR

The orange growers of upper Tulare County, in the Oroqui district, have for several years been quietly cashing in on a commodity that practically costs them nothing. We refer to the rich red color of the oranges grown in that section which is due to climatic conditions, and to the great amount of iron in the soil. Oroqui oranges are larger, juicier, more luscious—and are ripe and ready for market from four to six weeks earlier, practically the entire crop of Tulare county having been marketed last year by the 15th of December. In most sections, this early marketing would be of inestimable value through escaping the possibility of damage from frost—but up to this point is thought of that circumstance, as the entire Oroqui district is free from damaging frosts even during the most severe winters.

This freedom from frost is due to location, the district being protected on three sides by towering mountains that break off the chilling winds from north and east. Adjacent to Oroqui are a number of giant peaks rising to 14,000 feet, snow-capped throughout the year.

Practically everything that grows in temperate and semi-tropical climates can be raised successfully at Oroqui. The orange, the grape, peaches, figs, apricots, olives, walnuts—and between the rows of trees, while a grove is reaching maturity, the land can be made to produce $100 an acre each year in potatoes, beans and berries; and at the same time the land will be increasing in value about $150 per acre annually.

For descriptive map and detailed information regarding land, and the present great development, write the Oroqui Orange Land Co., owners; M. S. Robertson, Mgr., 301 Story Bldg., Los Angeles; or see E. M. Sheridan, office at Dinuba, California, who will show you the company's properties.

Advice On Drying and Sulphuring of Apricots

The object of sulphuring is twofold; it is sanitary and esthetic. Unless some other process can be substituted which will accomplish both objects equally well, we must still continue the use of sulphur, for this purpose. The contention which was so strongly to be front a few years ago that sulphuring made dried fruit an unhealthful article of food, has dropped out of sight, if not out of mind. It was not well founded, anyway, as those who eat much dried fruit could testify.

Since we must still resort to the sulphuring process in drying fruit, it is well to understand the use and the element which readily combines with the oxygen of the air. When this takes place we say the sulphur burns, and the combination of sulphur and oxygen we call the sulphur fumes, or sulphur dioxide. In the presence of moisture the sulphur dioxide will do two things: It will destroy the germs of mould, of fermentation and of disease, and it will bleach. Because it kills microscopic life it is used by people to disinfect dwellings where there was contagious disease, and it is entirely effective provided the room is filled with steam. It is used effectively in bleaching processes, but the article to be bleached must be moist.

The fruit, be it apricot, peach, apple or something else, supplies its own moisture. Growers will occasionally wet the top tray of a pile that has been exposed to the sun and air too long before going into the sulphur house.

Old hands at the business need no suggestion as to sulphuring, but new comers may welcome them.

A sulphur house which would hold about 50 trays, each 2 by 3 feet (four shake trays), would be about 5 feet high, 6 feet long and 3 1/2 feet wide. If we multiply height, width and length we would get about 105 cubic feet. About four-fifths of one pound of sulphur will combine with the oxygen of 100 cubic feet of air, therefore if my house be absolutely tight I could burn only four-fifths of a pound in this space. If I had supplied two pounds of sulphur, it would cease to burn as soon as all the oxygen of the 100 cubic feet is used up. This calculation is on the supposition that your sulphur is perfectly pure and your house absolutely tight. Cheap sulphur is not pure sulphur, but mixed with some cheap material, and it is necessary to use more of it to accomplish the desired results. It is unsatisfactory in lighting it, in keeping it burning, and growers have often found that they have spoiled their fruit by using cheap sulphur. The moral is: Use only the best sulphur. It costs more per pound, but is the cheapest. A buyer said: "Give 'em plenty of sulphur, and get the best 'Flowers of Sulphur.'"

The time of exposure to the sulphur fumes varies with different growers. Some think two hours sufficient, others think three hours about right; some will leave the last batch in all night, some think it bad practice. One of the finest lots of dried apricots I have seen was exposed three to four hours and also over night.

Trays should be run into the sulphur house as quickly as possible after cutting, in order to give as little time as possible for the starting of fermentation and mould. The germs float constantly through the air, and settle upon the moist fruit. Warmth and moisture are both favorable to their growth. The sooner the germs are killed the better. Very ripe fruit especially should be sulphured as quickly as possible. Every grower should have a small sulphur house to take care of small batches and special lots, in addition to his regular size house.

Shall we shake the trees? Some growers always wait for their fruit to fall. In that case some of it becomes over ripe and will be dark or partly black, or make slabs. In grading it becomes necessary to pick out blacks and slabs by hand, a slow and expensive process. Large fruit on young trees, that have had much irrigation, often looks hardly ripe enough for cutting, but will be found soft around the pit and will turn black in the "cup." That is to say, fermentation has already started, sulphuring prevents its further spread, but the center is beyond remedy. It turns black. Never wait for such fruit to fall.

Fruit which has already soured will turn black in spite of sulphuring. The process of fermentation has gone too far to be prevented.

It takes a man with good judgment and some skill to do shaking, lest green fruit comes down. Green fruit should not be cut. To sell it is not fair to the consumer. Better let it go for fertilizer.

How long to leave the trays out to dry must depend upon the weather. The quicker they dry the better the color. Before they are quite ready to take up they may be stacked and allowed to finish drying in the stack. This excludes the bright light and gives a better color. It is best to have the fruit well dried before it is put into the bin. To judge of this requires some experience. If it is put away too wet it will per chance mould or sour, and also cake. It is best to be put into sweat boxes, instead of in one pile in a bin, especially if it is in a big pile. Sacks do not answer as well as boxes.

In scraping fruit off the trays, blacks and slabs had better be picked out and delivered separately. Blacks will bring a little. Slabs bring about the price of standards (the smallest size of graded fruit). Blacks may also profitably be fed to stock, which soon learn to like them. Insist upon your pitters cutting the fruit clear around, otherwise it can not be graded properly, and requires extra work, or goes as slabs. Do not allow pitters to squeeze the juice out while cutting. This juice gives weight and sweetness. The fruit should be laid so that the cups will hold the juice. Do not allow the fruit to be spread leaning or slanting.

The esthetic object of sulphuring is to make the fruit pleasing to the eye by preventing it from turning dark, but preserving the original color.

Have your fruit picked up in the cool of the early morning, and placed in the shade. Avoid if you can having any of it stand over night in the picking boxes. It is better off on the ground under the trees. Let your pitters rest during the heat of the day.

Beautiful Huntington Beach

A Justly Popular Beach Resort---A Charming Spot for a summer or winter home---A thriving agricultural center

HUNTINGTON BEACH is a combination of almost everything desirable for the home-seeker, sojourner, investor and those on pleasure bent. Its climate is perfect at all seasons of the year; its social and moral conditions are unexcelled; its beauty of location, with superb mountain and marine views, is the delight of all who behold. Besides being a popular beach resort, with fine surf bathing and fishing, modern pleasure pavilion, pier and bathhouse, a superb beach and slightly ocean front bluffs, Huntington Beach is a commercial and industrial center. It has a "back-country" of thousands of acres of the richest and most beautiful agricultural lands—peatlands for celery, sugar beet lands, bean lands and lands suitable for all kinds of crops. On the outskirts of the city are located a great sugar factory, tile factory, barley-crushing and bean-cleaning plants. The city has over 1500 inhabitants and is growing rapidly. Splendid schools and churches are there, broad paved streets, fine business blocks, beautiful homes. Railroad facilities include the Southern Pacific steam road and the Pacific Electric trolley lines, one running in from Santa Ana, the county seat of Orange county, and the other from Los Angeles, extending on to Balboa. Arrangements have been made by which Huntington Beach will in future have a 45 minute car service to Los Angeles the year round with three flyers daily to Zafra, the junction for Long Beach. Huntington Beach has been chosen year after year as the place of meeting for the Southern California Veterans' Association, Aug. 13-23; Socialists encampment July 1-7; Methodist camp meeting July 21-August 4.

One of the most popular attractions of Huntington Beach is its "Tent City," located only three blocks from the ocean, convenient to car lines. The grounds are attractively laid out and planted with trees and shrubbery.

Huntington Beach homes are surrounded by beautiful lawns and gardens, the rich character of the soil and the abundant supply of pure water making it easy to grow anything.

For Sale—40 acres good rich sandy-sediment loam, all under cultivation. Four room California house, 7-inch artesian well, 8 h. p. pumping plant and plenty of shade trees. Price $250 per acre. Half cash, balance easy at 7 per cent.

Those wishing to make sure and safe investments in the famous peatlands locality make no mistake in letting us show what we have to offer. We are willing to put our time against yours—let us give you an auto ride through our rich country. Make an appointment by phone. Both phones 33.

275 CARLOADS ARE SHIPPED

High Quality Cabbage Crop
About Fullerton Has Been Sent to Market

FULLERTON, July 10.—The cabbage season for this section has closed, the total output having been far behind that of last year, although the prices have been much better, netting the growers better profits. During the season now closed the output from the local district has been about 275 carloads. The market opened at $45 a ton and averaged through the season $20 a ton. The cabbage was of the highest quality. The crop was purchased and shipped by the Pacific Company, M. M. Cobb, Fred Lampburn, Duncan Campbell, the Kern Association and by the California Vegetable Union, the last concern having moved over 100 carloads. Last year the output was nearly 400 cars, and the average prices from $14 to $15 a ton. A Sewer Farm

Negotiations are under way for the purchase by the city of the forty-acre Cookson ranch, west of Fullerton, for a sewer farm. The price asked is $18,000, and thirty-five acres are under cultivation. The city trustees hold an option on the property, which will be exercised. Septic tanks will be built and the water will be used for irrigation.

On the request of the State Highway Commission the city trustees have passed a resolution to the effect that Spadra street will be paved from the north to the south city limits. This will be a part of the state road. The reform element scored at the meeting Monday night with a petition signed by 400 citizens, as a result of which all picture shows will be closed on Sunday hereafter.

Alfalfa Hay.

Alfalfa hay is the richest protein roughage fed to horses, and when a horse is fed all he will eat it might possibly keep his stomach so constantly distended as to produce heaves. But when a horse is fed a reasonable amount no fears need be entertained about the feeding of alfalfa hay. Being so rich in protein it sometimes will cause the horse's bowels to become too loose. Alfalfa hay is not nearly as liable to produce heaves in horses as are straws of various kinds and corn fodder.

A FINE YEAR FOR ALFALFA

One Cutting Hardly Out of the Way Before the Other is Waiting For Mower

OLD NEWPORT, July 10.—The baling season is on in good earnest. Many tons of good hay are now ready and waiting to be put up. It is such a good year for growing alfalfa that one cutting is hardly out of the way before the next one is waiting. So much water is being used for irrigating purposes that people are feeling rather anxious over the situation. The water supply is running so low that quite a number of pumps are being installed.

Times have changed since we were young. Then the glorious old Fourth was ushered in with one big blatant blare. The roarings of the old-time cannon, the explosions of the anvils, the crackings of the fire-arms, the poppings of the torpedoes—all one glad, triumphant jubilee for the old as well as the young, as many will testify. This year one with but a little imagination could very easily think that the Sabbath day had again dawned, though so soon, as all was so quiet, with no extra work on hand save the usual morning tasks. Very early, cars began to go by filled to the very limit of their capacity; automobiles flashed past, carriages hurried along, as well as wheels and motorcycles, and even easy-going pedestrians, presumably on their way to the beaches to enjoy a holiday to each heart's content. All day a sense of utter desecration was over the city and surrounding villages, until late in the evening, when the cars brought back the weary but satisfied people.

Most of our young people found their way to one or another of the beaches for the Fourth, or remained quietly at home.

Sam Weber went to San Diego on Wednesday for over the Fourth. Miss Edith Ould of Los Angeles, came home to spend the Fourth with her parents, of this place.

Miss Anna Segerstrom returned from a three weeks' visit in Los Angeles among friends there, Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Risinger's son, Donald, who has been quite ill from an aggravated attack of biliousness, is slowly improving.

Misses Grace and Beale McClain and brother, Charles, spent the Fourth at Redondo Beach.

O. H. Merritt and family and Miss Marie Strunk of Riverside, motored down to San Diego Thursday to take in the good times there on the Fourth.

Mrs. Clatworthy and sons, John and William, were among the visitors at Balboa Thursday.

He Was Helping.

A Baltimore man, whose son is a student at Princeton, has had frequent occasion to remonstrate with his boy touching his extravagance, but the father invariably "comes to the front" when request is made for further funds.

In his last letter to his son the father, after the usual recital, stated that he was forwarding a check for $50, and he wound up with:

"My son, your studies are costing me a great deal."

To which the hopeful, in his next letter, replied:

"I know it, father, and I don't study very hard, either."—Christmas Week.

Bacon Sandwiches

Wisp of breakfast bacon, delicately broiled, make the most appetizing of sandwiches, especially if put between toasted slices of graham bread. The small shreds of bacon must lie on lettuce and be seasoned with paprika or red pepper. These are as appetizing cold as hot.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Owing to the hot weather in the East and Middle West shipments of eastern eggs to the Los Angeles market will be discontinued for the summer earlier than was anticipated, it being announced that another ten days will see the finish. There is a shortage of eastern eggs now in storage, variously estimated at from 30 to 40 per cent, as against last year. This will cause eastern storage eggs to sell about 5 cents higher than last year, the forecast being from 27 to 35 cents a bushel, and about 35 cents for the trade.

Chicago market yesterday shows that local market receipts are about the same as last year, and the price of the receipts will be greatly reduced in a short time. The shortage in shipping is about 100,000 bushels. It was feared a while back that such would be the case. Dealers in grain, especially the heavy receivers of eastern eggs, say the demand here will be met and that there is no fear of being anticipated, summing up the situation by saying: "There will be enough eggs to go around, but they will be somewhat higher than last year."

Eastern cheese was firm yesterday and it is likely to advance. It has now about recovered the decline made June 1, although since then there has been a slight drop, and prices may go beyond the high summer level reached last year. The trade is drawing heavily on the California varieties, making them firm, although no advance is anticipated.

Butter was steady yesterday. Butter declined a half cent in the East.

In fruit conditions were practically unchanged. Twelve carloads of cantaloupes arrived. They were a little green, owing to the fact that they came from new fields in Imperial, the old fields having been about picked clean. Cantaloupes from local points will be in the market in about two weeks. Melons were firm and a little scarce yesterday.

Carload shipments included 1 fancy peach, at 2 1/2 cents a pound; 1 tragedy plums, at 6 cents; 2 apricots, at 5 cents; 1 peach plums, at 5 cents; 1 fancy apples, at 90 cents a lug box. Pineapples were scarce, but a large shipment is expected today.

In the vegetable line lettuce was a trifle weak, selling down to 75 and 90 cents a crate. Fancy local celery sold at 90 cents a dozen, and $5 a crate. Tomatoes, in car lot averages, sold at 45 cents a crate. The tomatoes arriving from the Imperial were a little green, but in better condition than last week. Potatoes sold down to 90 cents and $1.00 a hundred pounds for fancy stock. Cabbage was also cheap, selling at $1.00 a hundred pounds. Corn was also weak at 75 and 85 cents a lug box. Cauliflower was listed on the exchange at $1.25 a dozen, and egg plant at 8 and 10 cents a pound. Peas advanced to 5 and 6 cents, and sweet potatoes declined to 4 1/2 and 6 cents. Yellow Danvers onions dropped to $1.00 and $1.25 hundred pounds, and water melons to 1 and 1 1/2 cents a pound.

On August 1st, I. W. Van Cleave will consolidate his two barber shops at the Rosemore in a ten chair shop.
